While navigating through content on SunGard Central, you can apply many of the same techniques you'd use on Facebook LinkedIn or any other social media site on the Internet. Here's how to get started:
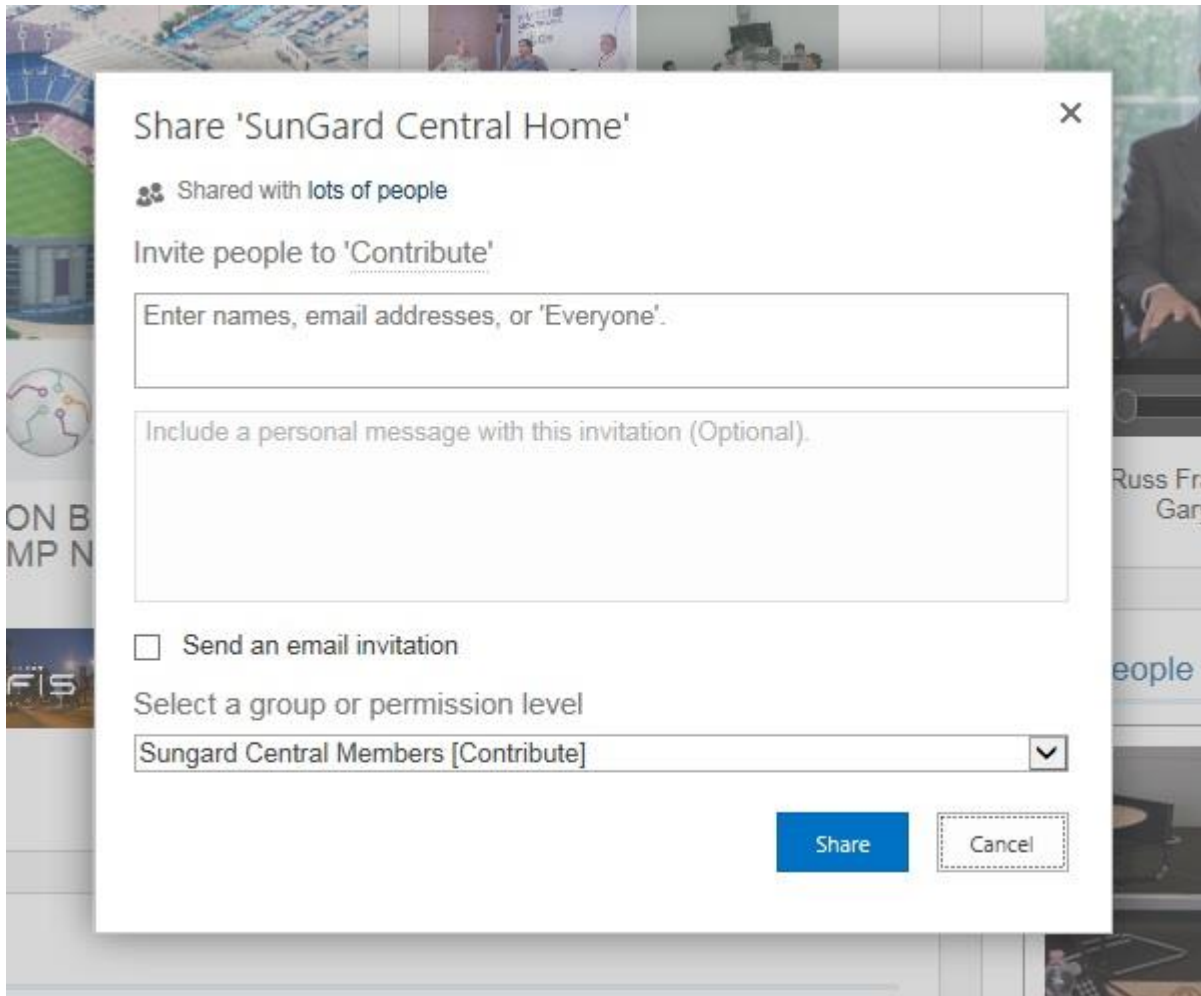

1. At the top of every site on SunGard Central, you'll find a "Share" and "Follow" button. Use these buttons when you want to share and/or follow sites, tags, documents, people and more>
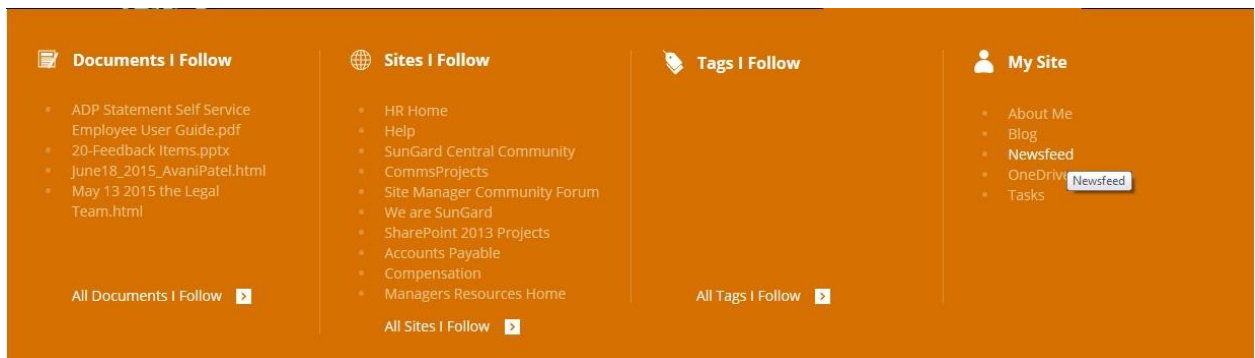

2. Are you a frequent visitor to a certain site? Follow it, and keep track of everything you follow by visiting your "My Site" page. A handy tracker appears in the top right hand corner of the page.

I'm following

7
people

4
documents

10
sites

0
tags

Trending #tags

me   Mentions   ...

rome Extension Apps to create smart

rome Extension Apps to create smart graphics

jers Resources Home
shows up in my newsfeed if I'm following this

3. Sharing a website with someone is another way to invite them to contribute to a particular discussion or website. Keep in mind, they must have permission to contribute to the site before using this feature.

4. You can also keep track of colleagues you mention in your online discussions and the discussions you are mentioned in by visiting My Site > Newsfeed...

...and then by clicking on "Mentions".

5. This will direct you to your Newsfeed where you can view all of the discussions in which you were mentioned.

Newsfeed

Share with Everyone ▾

Start a conversation

Following   Everyone   Mentions   ...

Posts that mention you show in this view.

@ Mentioned by George Thomas.

George Thomas
@Jane McMaster-Conroy: testing

July 13   Show conversation

@ Mentioned by Paul Dsouza.

🖊 Paul Dsouza replied to "How we need to plan sites on the HR collection "
in Comms Team Site. @Jane McMaster-Conroy @Barbara Zajac @Jane McMaster-Conroy

June 26   Show conversation

@ Mentioned by Paul Dsouza.

◁ Paul Dsouza posted "standard line to include in all mailer that need to reference a site on SC" in Comms Team Site. @Barbara Zajac @Srikanth Srinivasan @Jane McMaster-Conroy

June 26   Show conversation

6. Likewise, you can mention colleagues in your disucssions by using the following: @Firstname Lastname.

@ Mentioned by Paul Dsouza.

🖉 Paul Dsouza replied to "How we need to plan sites on the HR collection " in Comms Team Site. @Jane McMaster-Conroy @Barbara Zajac @Jane McMaster-Conroy

June 26   Show conversation

@ Mentioned by Paul Dsouza.

◁ Paul Dsouza posted "standard line to include in all mailer that need to reference a site on SC" in Comms Team Site. @Barbara Zajac @Srikanth Srinivasan @Jane McMaster-Conroy

June 26   Show conversation

@ Mentioned by Paul Dsouza.

7. If you want to mention something or someone in particular in a conversation, you can also use the hashtag technique. In the example below, the story invites you to discuss the 2015 Coder Cup in conversations by using #SCCoderCup before your response.

This year's final round is again sponsored by Intel, and it will feature a highly-regarded panel of judges, including Steve Silberstein along with other thought leaders and industry experts from Intel, Saxo Bank and BBVA CIB.

Get more highlights about what's in store for the final round>>

Honoring innovation at SunGard: Ben Young's patent

A special ceremony honoring SunGard's Ben Young will kick off the competition. On July 14, 2015, Ben, pictured at right, was awarded a patent for creating just-in-time compilation and real-time dispatch of parallel risk management models across different architectures. His solution has been recognized as the leading Monte Carlo simulation engine in the industry and is already deployed in SunGard's Adaptiv Analytics solution.

Congratulations Ben – you embody the spirit of our codeathons!

Meet the finalist teams and join the action on SunGard's social channels

With their challenge in hand, the finalists are getting ready for the competition. You can be a part of the action, too:

- Visit the SunGard.com Global Coder Cup '15 microsite and get to know the 11 finalist teams by clicking on the latest blog entries

- Visit and post comments on the SunGard Central Coder Cup '15 page

- Join the Coder Cup conversation on social media. There will be a lot of activity around the promotion of Coder Cup '15 on the SunGard Twitter, LinkedIn and Facebook pages. We encourage you to actively engage as well. Create your own posts about the finals using the hashtag #SGCoderCup, or simply retweet and repost the updates from the SunGard channels.

8. You're also encouraged to comment on stories you read on SunGard Central. There's a comment box at the bottom of every story, so let your voice be heard.

Up Close with Nathalie Ogier

How do you spend your free time?

Before having my beautiful daughter and expecting the second one next year, I competed in a lot of sports. Today, I'm drawn to yoga, mountaineering in winter and summer and family. I also love painting in my leisure time.

What song would you include on the soundtrack of your life?

Probably the most listened to on my smartphone is "It's Up to You" from the album Chill Out and Beach Lounge. It is very meaningful and empowering for me.

Comments

[Post Comment]

‹ Previous | Next ›

JeanNathanael Bocar 8/20/2015 3:39 PM   Delete

Hey Nathalie! Long time no speak!

Good for you... and congrats on all the good news!